EARTHQUAKE KILLS 1,000; CHILE TOWNS BLOTTED OUT

Many Thousands Left Homeless And Destitute

BIG TIDAL WAVE

Wall Of Water 60 Yards High Makes Havoc On Sea Front

Santiago, Nov. 13.—A partial resumption of communications reveals the fact that the earthquake was greater than at first reported. It is estimated that at least 1,000 persons were killed or drowned and that thousands are homeless and destitute. In addition to the heavy casualties at Copiapo and Coquimbo it is reported that 500 persons are dead in the Vallenar district and that Vallenar has been practically destroyed. It seems certain that casualties must have resulted in towns further south, from which news is not yet available. Tidal waves were experienced over 1,200 miles from Antofagasta to Validivia.

WAVE 60 FEET HIGH

London, Nov. 13.—Reuter's correspondent at Coquimbo, which was the center of the earthquake, describes a panic among the residents, who were awakened at midnight by violent shocks and a thunderstorm and fled terrorstricken to the hills.

The sea receded 300 yards and returned in the shape of a wave 60 yards high, stretching to Coquimbo and La Serena, making havoc of the streets on the seafront and throwing 40-ton lighters beyond the railway bridge.

Santiago, Nov. 13.—Three hundred deaths are reported in connection with the earthquake at Vallenar to the southwest of Copiapo.

MANY DEAD IN QUAKE
(Reuter's Service)

Santiago, Chili, Nov. 11.—An earthquake was recorded here yesterday lasting from two to four minutes in different parts of the country. Five hundred houses were destroyed at Coquimbo and some lives were lost.

The value of the houses destroyed is estimated at 5,000,000 pesos.

Railway depots at Coquimbo were shaken down and railway carriages upset.

A tidal wave carried away a greater part of the Mole in the harbor.

The violence of the shocks and the approximate locality have been recorded at Florence Observatory in Italy.

According to the latest reports 200 persons were killed and 400 injured by the earthquake and tidal wave at Coquimbo, La Serena and Copiapo. Waters flooded 300 yards of the shore at Coquimbo, Antofagasta and Caldera.

The Chilean earthquake which wrought millions of damage and killed 200 persons was recorded by the seismograph at Siccawei Observatory whose report follows:

"A very severe and distinct earthquake has been registered by the seismograph, beginning at 12h, 53m, 4s., November 11th. The epicenter is likely to be placed off the Western coast of Southern America."

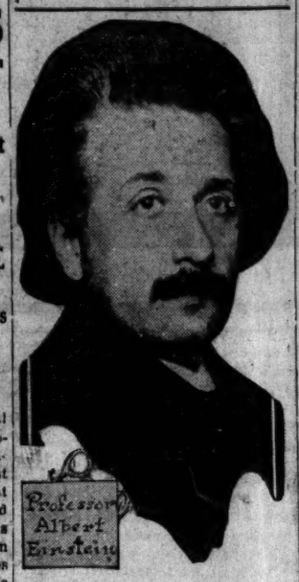
Famous Physicist Visits Shanghai



EINSTEIN, HERE, PLEASED WITH NOBEL AWARD

Famous German Savant Is Entertained; Leaves For Japan This Morning

Dr. Albert Einstein, the famous exponent of the theory of relativity, who arrived in Shanghai yesterday on the Kitano Maru en route to Japan where he will deliver a series of lectures, expressed his great pleasure over being awarded the Nobel Prize for scientific research, the news of which he received by wireless two days ago. He was officially notified here by the Swedish Consul-General.

Dr. Einstein was welcomed to Shanghai by Herr Thiel, the German Consul-General, Dr. and Mrs. M. O. Pfister and members of the Japan Club who prepared a program of entertainment including tiffin at a Chinese restaurant, a trip through the native city, a visit to the studio of Wang I-ting, the celebrated painter, tea with Dr. Pfister where members of the German colony had an opportunity to meet the celebrated savant. If time permits Dr. Einstein will also drive to St. John's University and visit one of the large tobacco factories.

"My first trip to the East has been one of great joy and many surprises," Dr. Einstein said. "The ideal weather, clear atmosphere and brilliant stars in the southern sky have all made an indelible impression upon my brain, a memory which I will never forget. Although I made a few experiments on board the ship of a more or less elementary nature my belief was greatly strengthened in the theory of relativity."

NO RECENT DISCOVERIES

When asked if he had made any additional discoveries recently he replied that he had not.

"Although I personally have not made any additions to scientific research recently I have heard that a group of British scientists who conducted a series of experiments on the West Coast of Australia have attained some remarkable results. However the true value of their work cannot be computed yet, inasmuch as the pictures and slides must be sent to London to be measured by instruments of extraordinary delicacy and accuracy.

"The expedition of Dutch scientists which went to Christmas Island failed to obtain any definite results on account of inclement weather. Although I was invited to be a member of this expedition I was forced to decline at the last minute owing to pressure of work at home."

Dr. Einstein stated that in all probability he would deliver a series of lectures in China upon the completion of his engagements in Japan. The Universities of Peking and Nanking have invited him to lecture before their respective student bodies and he has accepted. Dr. Einstein stated that he would also give two or three lectures in Shanghai if time permitted. His first lecture in Japan will be given at Keio University, after which he will proceed to Tokio and lecture at the Imperial University of Japan.

Dr. Einstein leaves early this morning on the Kitano Maru for Kobe and plans to return here in about seven weeks time.

DR. FUCHS COMING

Another famous savant of Central Europe, Dr. Ernst Fuchs of Vienna will arrive in Shanghai shortly to deliver a series of

Madam Einstein Admits She's Of The Majority— Relativity Puzzles Her Too

Aside From His Theorising, However, She Finds Her Husband Has The Usual Male Traits---Drops Ashes On The Floor And Wears Out His Sox

BY LARRY LEHRBAS

Me and Mrs. Einstein and Viscount Ishii, the famous Japanese diplomat, are the only three people in China that haven't the least glimmering iota of an idea of what the Einstein theory of relativity is all about. That much was settled yesterday afternoon when we, reinforced with a battery of fourteen Japanese journalists, interviewed the famous scientist aboard the Kitano Maru.

The fourteen Japanese journalists smiled and grinned and wrote copious notes as the great man expounded the theory of space and time and matter and a few score Greek formulas that has set the world on its ear and upset the basic foundations of the scientific sphere. The simple little formula of the skeletonised theory itself was received with comprehension and a united "Ah!" We smiled and took notes also, but it wasn't any use and we were feeling pretty much down-hearted because of our unforgivable ignorance until we met Mrs. Einstein and Viscount Ishii.

"No, I don't understand what it's all about," Mrs. Einstein confessed. "In fact I'm not very much interested in it. I like other things—the wonderful starry nights in the Southern Seas, for instance."

And then when Viscount Ishii, whose acute mind has caused several well known diplomats to go to some Spa for a rest, confidentially whispered to me and said he didn't savvy either, I felt like the fellow who drew Marosfield in The Champions.

The original error was committed when, long before Dr. Einstein planned on coming to the Far East, I, after the manner of newspapermen, recounted that I had interviewed the famous man five times in Chicago during a scientific convention. Thereafter I was the office wizard on relativity and basked in the sunshine—until they found out Einstein was passing through our fair city.

"Having heard the theory explained five times you probably are one of the twelve men in the world who comprehend it," said the office oracle. "Meet the boat and then give our readers a short, clear and concise explanation of the theory of relativity. And remember that the biggest newspaper story that ever happened, the creation of the world, was told in about three hundred words."

Some people are born brave, some achieve bravery, and some are shoved into it. We were shoved, but it wouldn't take, as witness:

Dr. Einstein is a kindly looking gentleman—giving more the appearance of a village rector than the man who evolved a theory that turned the whole world topsy-turvy and copped the Nobel prize from a field of the world's greatest scientists. He dresses in plain black clothes—a cutaway—wears a black and white knit tie that matches his little black mustache, and has a short mane of greying hair that looks like a paste-board crown with some of the points squashed, and has brown twinkling eyes. He speaks softly without any of the jarring tones usually found in German.

We dived in head first.

"Two years ago in an explanation of the Einstein theory I asked you to give a concrete example of the theory and you explained as follows:

"If you have a golf club sticking up in the embankment alongside a railway track, and put another golf club of the same length flat on the floor of a train the golf club on the train is shorter when it passes the standing golf club than the standing club. Is that right?"

Dr. Einstein smiled.

"Relatively speaking, yes."

"The golf club on the train is contracted by the speed of the train because of the difference in length of the waves which we call distance?"

"In other words the point of view has a great deal to do with it if one object is standing still and the other is moving."

Simple? Why a kiddie playing with alphabet blocks couldn't fail to grasp the idea! We visibly expanded pouter-pigeon fashion.

"And how do you arrive at the varying lengths of these objects?" we asked making a fine pretense at knowing what it was all about.

"That's very simple too," Dr. Einstein replied. Taking a sheet of my copy paper he rapidly jotted down the formula, the grand-daddy of the whole shootin' match, the open sesame of the dark secret. All ye who have labored in vain read it and weep:

$$t' = \frac{t - \frac{vx}{c^2}}{\sqrt{1 - \frac{v^2}{c^2}}}$$

A. Einstein

That's when we threw up the sponge. We had intended asking the celebrated savant the following questions:

"If Pa Jongg says 'Yes, we have no bananas' how many bananas, relatively speaking, has Pa?"

"Under the Einstein theory how much can a check be stretched if the recipient travels at a speed of—blank—miles per night?"

—But those and numerous other questions must remain unanswered until the noted theorist returns to Shanghai seven weeks hence, because just then Mrs. Einstein interrupted with: "You are the young man who wrote in a Chicago newspaper that I didn't understand my husband's theory, are you not?"

"Yes'um," we answered. "Have you figured it out yet?"

"No, and I am not interested," Mrs. Einstein smilingly replied. "There are many other things to think about. I should worry."

"The wife of a genius has no path of roses," we hazarded.

"My husband may be a genius,

DR. F.C. TONG IS ARRESTED BY CHINESE POLICE

Newspaper Proprietor Held Pending Investigation Of Girl's Suicide

Fred C. Tong, alias Tong Tsi-tse, part owner of the Chinese Journal of Commerce who figured as a witness in the suicide case of Miss Zih Zang-tseng, a mailing clerk employed by the publication, was arrested in his home in Kung Yi Lee, off North Chekiang Road on Sunday morning.

Charges of being implicated in the suicide of Miss Zih had been brought against Tong sometime ago by the girl's family as well as the Tongshan Guild in the Nantao Court of Procurators. Because of his dual residence the warrant was not executed until Sunday morning.

Two court officers, Chu Fan-yuan and Han Jui-sung, waited outside of Tong's residence all night Saturday and apprehended him when he motored home at two o'clock in the morning. A preliminary hearing was held before Chief Procurator Chai on Sunday morning and Tong was detained pending the serving of the summons on the complainants.

The death of Miss Zih by hanging herself in the office of Tong with an electric cord made quite a flurry in Shanghai newspaperdom. At the inquest held in the Mixed Court, the sister of the deceased disposed that before her death Miss Zih had told witness that Tong had borrowed $5,000 from the deceased and that after failing to return the money, Tong had proposed to her that she marry him as a concubine. Tong maintained at that time the money was for the purchase of exchange stocks by the deceased who had never attempted to take delivery of the shares, which were still in his safe.

An investigation of the suicide was made by a committee of the Tongshan Guild, of which the girl's family is a member. The publication of the report of the committee in THE CHINA PRESS and the Sin Wan Pao was subsequently made the subject of libel suits brought against the two papers by Tong for Tls. 100,000 each. These two cases are still pending in the United States Court for China.

No Cloud On Horizon Says Ishii Of Relations Of Japan And United States

Tokio Ambassador To France Passes Through Shanghai On Way Home For Brief Leave

Viscount Ishii, the Japanese Ambassador to France, and co-author of the famous Lansing-Ishii agreement between the United States and Japan, arrived in Shanghai on the Kitano Maru yesterday en route to Tokio on three months' leave. He is accompanied by the Viscountess Ishii and will continue on to Tokio on the ship today.

Viscount Ishii was Ambassador to France for two years preceding the world war and stayed in Paris for a year after the war started, returning to Tokio to become the war-time Minister for Foreign Affairs. He left office to go to the United States as Special Envoy to draw up the Lansing-Ishii agreement, and then returned to Washington as the Japanese Ambassador for a year and a half. He has been the Mikado's envoy at Paris this time for two years, during which period he has been Japan's delegate at many of the important conferences held on post-war problems and on the League of Nations.

LAUDS CONFERENCE

"There is not a cloud on the horizon to mar the friendly relations existing between the United States and Japan," Viscount Ishii said last night. "All those questions which have had slightly jarring effects have been amicably settled and the Washington Conference removed what disagreements existed over Chinese questions. I look forward to a long and peaceful period of prosperity and peace for both countries, and particularly so now that armaments, both naval and military, have been reduced. The United States, Japan and Great Britain have already ratified the results of the Washington Conference and when I left France it was only a question of the Deputies and Senate meeting to ratify it."

Because of Viscount Ishii's prominence in League of Nations meetings he was asked to express his views on the present status of the League and expressed optimism concerning its future success.

"The League has accomplished a great deal considering that it has been in existence only a short time," he said. "If the United States comes in, of course, it will add greatly to the prestige of the League and enable it to function even more beneficially, but even without the United States it has been able to make remarkable headway. We of other countries who are interested in the unqualified success of the League are keenly desirous to see the United States become a member, and hold the opinion that the American people are in favor of the idea if not the actual construction of the League as at present constituted."

Viscount Ishii said that he had been out of touch with world events for 40 days and so was not in a position to talk of the Near Eastern question, but said that even before he left Europe the League had been able to settle some of the problems in the Near East effectively. During his absence the Japanese Ambassador at Brussels, Mr. Adatci, is looking after Japan's interest in the League, he said, and such questions were, therefore, outside his province.

The Viscount was asked whether or not he had taken occasion during the long sea voyage to discuss the theory of relativity with Prof. Einstein, who also arrived on the Kitano Maru, but replied in the negative with a wide smile.

"I did not," he said, "because I knew I could not understand the theory. I attempted to gain an understanding by reading a little book that was reputed to be a simple explanation some time ago but, relatively speaking, it is not understandable by a mere diplomat."

Viscount Ishii also declined to give his impressions of the latest Paris styles on the score that he was not an Ambassador of Vogue.

"My wife looks out for that part of it," he explained. "The Viscountess dresses in the mode."

Because of a slight cold, Viscount Ishii declined a number of invitations for receptions and dinners while here, remaining aboard the vessel during the stay in port. The Viscountess, however, visited ashore with Mrs. Funatsu, wife of the Japanese Consul-General.

THEYKEN PLEADS GUILTY TO GRAND LARCENY CHARGE

Liggett And Meyers Man Appears In United States Court

Mr. H. G. Theyken, former manager of the Liggett and Meyers tobacco company at Hongkong, charged with grand larceny by the officials of the firm here and arrested on his arrival from Hongkong on November 1, pleaded guilty before Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday. Judgment was withheld.

The amount involved in the Theyken case is said to be in the neighborhood of Mex. $18,000. The former Hongkong manager was arrested on a warrant issued at the instance of Mr. C. B. Arthur, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Liggett and Meyers offices here and he appeared before U. S. Commissioner N. E. Lurton and waived preliminary hearing on November 2, furnishing bail of $6,000.

Another former member of the Liggett and Meyers company's Southern staff is also facing charges here—Mr. H. E. Falcone, former assistant manager of the Canton office, who is charged with embezzlement.

RED CROSS DRIVE STARTS TODAY FOR MEMBERS HERE

Sir Claude Hill First To Join; Campaign Is For 2,000 Names

The Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross will open in Shanghai today according to Mr Carl Crow who has consented to act as director of the campaign for the China Central Committee. Throughout the United States the Roll Call is at present being carried on, having opened on Armistice Day and will continue until November 30, Thanksgiving Day.

The campaign slogan this year is "Every American Everywhere A Member" and according to Mr Crow is particularly applicable to Americans residing in Shanghai. The first member to be enrolled this year is Sir Claude Hill, president of the International Red Cross en route to Bangkok to attend the Red Cross conference.

The goal set for Shanghai is 2,000 new members, although it is anticipated that many others besides Americans will wish to be enrolled, thus considerably swelling the grand total. Yearly membership certificates may be purchased at the American Oriental Bank, the Pacific Mail Offices, the Astor House, the Palace Hotel, the Chinese American Publishing Company and various other American stores to be announced later.

The work accomplished by the American Red Cross in China is entirely too extensive to be described in this restricted space. However it is interesting to note that although the American Red Cross maintains an administrative secretary in Shanghai to investigate all needy cases the expenses for relief are entirely defrayed through popular subscription, and funds derived from the sale of membership certificates.

Mr. Crow expressed complete confidence that every American house in Shanghai would not be content with less than 100 percent membership of their American employees. A yearly membership costs $2 Mex. and is therefore within the reach of all.

THE CHINA PRESS will cooperate to the greatest possible extent in the American Red Cross Roll Call and will publish each day a list of the new members.

Symphony Concert

A prelude, choral and fuga by Bach arranged for the Orchestra by J. J. Albert was the opening number of the sixth concert, and was followed by the Unfinished Symphony of Schubert. Those who heard this composition a few years ago will have noticed the remarkable improvement in the reproduction and the refinement and musical expression from the different instrumental groups. It is delightful to have all the Beethoven Symphonies on the programs of the winter season.

The music of Gretry is nearly forgotten but to the suite from ballet "Cephale et Procris" the well known Felix Moth gave a new life by the orchestration of three dances: Tambaurin, menuetto, gigue light and pretty music.

Unnecessary to say, that Maestro Paci and his musicians gave all the possible credit to the work.

The second part of the concert contained Wagner's Segfried Idyll and Tschaikovsky's Capriccio Italiano, giving great delight to the attentive audience.

To Build Sanitarium In Shanghai; Building Will Start Next Spring

DR. H. W. MILLER

Dr. H.W. Miller, Washington Sanitarium Director, Here To Promote New Institution On Rubicon Road

Dr. H. W. Miller, Medical Director of the Washington Sanitarium, D. C., has arrived in Shanghai to take part in the promotion of a Sanitarium here. For several years now there has been a marked interest in Shanghai in the development of a Sanitarium, this interest being first substantially created by a fifty thousand dollar gift from Mr Au Chak-man towards the establishment of such an institution, and this interest has been fostered by Dr. Wu Ting-fang up to the time of his death. He was always a strong advocate of the Sanitarium System of treating diseases, so that now there is in Shanghai already a large number of the leading gentry giving it strong and hearty support.

There are now forty-seven Sanitariums distributed through the world, the largest majority of which are found in the United States. Dr. Miller has been active in promoting and developing these institutions in various places, and having formerly resided in China for a period of eight years has come back to Shanghai after having in his charge one of the largest of these institutions the past ten years at Washington. He will spend from six weeks to two months in making a survey of the situation and ascertaining the interest and support in this enterprise here and in assisting Dr. C. C. Landis in working out plans for this institution.

A small Sanitarium institute, located on Nanking Road, has been operating for a few years and this method of treatment was carried out in the Red Cross Hospital for three years with great success, and had much to do with creating the demand for a more representative work than the building there provided. They have in view the establishment of a Sanitarium of the highest type developing it after the most modern ideas, and when completed will be right up to the minute with every modern convenience used in the Sanitarium methods. This system depends greatly upon a well-balanced and nutritious dietary, the use of massage, electricity, sun-ray, electric light rays, mechanical movements, postural treatment, creating among the patients an atmosphere of hopefulness and good cheer with a pleasant and health yielding environment. It is to be an institution where proper rest and good nursing and careful medical supervision of the patient will bring results when all other means fail.

The Sanitarium system is very popular in the West as affording the most efficient service found in the type of health institution. Already there is a well trained staff in readiness to take charge of this institution, and with the more than thirty associated Sanitariums in the States yearly graduating more than 500 trained nurses, a continuity of service is assured for carrying forward the work of this institution.

The Sanitarium system of treatment affords to the nervous, the exhausted overworked man, and the chronic invalid a service not provided for in the hospitals, and is prepared to take care of all classes of medical and surgical patients.

Already a very desirable site has been purchased on Rubicon Road, and there remains only the erection of the buildings thereon to make the Sanitarium a living institution. The provision made heretofore in institutions for the sick has been largely for those needing surgical care and cases of acute illnesses, but the greatest institutional results in the care of the sick will be in treating diseases before they have reached the surgical state or become emergency illnesses. The Sanitarium system of treatment is a health educational organization which is intended to stimulate interest on the part of those who come within its environment in the necessity of keeping well and being always physically fit.

It is intended that this institution shall serve not only Shanghai, but it is expected to draw the patronage of men and women from all parts of the East in need of such care. Plans are perfected for the buildings, and work is to be begun early this spring. The first building will contain accommodations for about 100 patients. The plan is arranged so that other units may be added as the interest in Sanitarium methods and the demand justifies further additions.

BOAT ON ROCK IN UPPER RIVER GETS OFF AGAIN

Navigation Difficult Above Ichang—Lakh's Worth Of Opium Burned

(Reuter's Parin Service)

Ichang, Nov. 6.—The river is now getting low and navigation between Ichang and Chungking is becoming difficult. The Cho Ten (or, as the Chinese call it Ting Tien) found a rock between Kweifu and Yuhyang and her hull was slightly pierced, but not so badly as to cause any alarm. She was got on the rocks, and proceeded to her destination at Chungking, though she had to go with caution.

Attention has been drawn to the fact that the authorities here have been trying to stop the import of Szechuen large copper coins. To assist in this good work the Superintendent of Customs, who is also Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, appointed an Inspector to stay at the Customs upper station, Pingshanpa, whose duties were to search for this cash and seize it.

It was reported to the Chamber of Commerce that the Inspector was exceeding his duties as he was seizing even very small sums, which people were bringing to town to do their shopping with. The Chamber of Commerce resolved to lodge a protest with the Superintendent but the protest was made more vigorous on Saturday evening.

A crowd of men gathered at the Superintendent's office and residence, and entered into his rooms, breaking up furniture and crockery. The Superintendent was not at home, but his head clerk promised that he would telegraph to Wuchang that objections had been raised against the Inspector and he will probably be withdrawn.

A few days ago the Customs destroyed by burning about 60,000 ounces of opium, representing at the smallest estimate a lakh of dollars. Quantities are now being seized from nearly every steamer that arrives from Chungking.

R

There are certain times each year when it is safe to eat oysters. Custom has it that this season is from September to April—during the months containing the letter R. The rest of the year leave them alone.

At certain phases of the Business Cycle occur opportune times to purchase bonds which combine safety and a good yield. We are now passing through such a period. A year ago high-class bonds paid 8%; at present 7% a year hence probably 6%.

This is an R month for oysters and BONDS.

WILSON ATTACKS SENATE GROUP AS BACKSLIDERS

First Public Lecture Since Illness Devoted To Strong Castigation

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 11.—Ex-President Wilson delivered his first public lecture since his illness today. He declared that America had always stood for justice. "The puny persons now standing in the way would presently find that their weakness was no match for the strength of the moving providence." He felt certain that Americans were anxious to do their part towards an enduring world peace.

Mr. Wilson asserted that the Senate group which prevented the ratification of the Versailles Treaty did not represent the United States because the United States was advancing whereas they were slipping back.

"Where their slipping will end," the former President concluded, "God alone shall determine."

GENDARMERIE NEW MENACE TO ALLIES IN PORTE AREA

Negotiations Fail Of Result; Wait On Two Powers

RAFET IS ACTIVE

Over-Ride Agreements In Spite Of Many Concessions

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Nov. 13.—Up to the present the outcome of the negotiations is practically nil. Both the French and Italians are still without instructions and the British are reluctant to act alone. Rafet Pasha has not only seized control of the administration but is riding over the capitulations. Apart from the abolition of the super-tax on cereals, the Kemalist tariff is still maintained in effect. Rafet Pasha has obtained more than the Turks could ever hope to obtain at the Lausanne Conference. A disquieting factor is the failure to reach a compromise with regard to Allied control of the gendarmerie whose numbers are increasing and who are becoming a menace to the safety of the Allied Army.

FUGITIVES IN TRAP

Constantinople, Nov. 12.—The divergencies which up to the present have not improved concern measures of control. The Nationalists demand complete abolition of the measures of control while the Allies are insisting on their retention.

Meanwhile an unsettled atmosphere prevails, the inhabitants feel insecure and trade is at a standstill. The exodus of the population continues. Large numbers of Turks are equally apprehensive with regard to the future.

The Greek and Armenian Consulates are besieged by passport-hunters all day long. Unfortunately these people will overload the road and their escape is cut off now that Thrace is in the hands of the Turks.

Several delegations left for Lausanne before the postponement of the Conference was announced, including the Serbian, Rumanian and Kemalist missions.

Ismet Pasha arrived at Lausanne today but he has decided to proceed to Paris and will apparently occupy the interim by conversing with French statesmen.

KEMALISTS FIRM

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 12.—The Kemalist Delegation have arrived in London on their way to Lausanne. They declared that they had been inflexibly instructed to insist on the Angora National Pact as the basis of treaty, to insist on the Greeks repairing the damage done in Asia Minor, to refuse the idea of limitation on Turkish armaments and to demand that Turkey shall receive guarantees of the safety of Constantinople and Marmora.

SULTAN TAKES DRIVE

London, Nov. 11.—The disquieting rumors with regard to the Sultan's whereabouts have been cleared up. Reuter's Constantinople correspondent telegraphs that the Sultan, accompanied by Court dignitaries, drove in an open carriage to the Yildiz Mosque on the occasion of Selamlik.

CABINET STANDS BY

London, Nov. 12.—The members of the Cabinet are remaining in London during the week-end in view of the urgency with regard to the Near East situation, which the scanty news arriving shows continues disquieting.

WOULD OPEN PARLEY

Paris, Nov. 12.—The Premier, M. Poincare, has suggested to Great Britain that the formal opening of the Lausanne Conference should take place tomorrow to consider the program with a view to beginning the actual negotiations on Nov. 20.

The interval would be occupied by Earl Curzon and the Italian representative meeting M. Poincare in Paris to discuss a common attitude.

POINCARE'S ATTITUDE

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 12.—On Friday amidst the applause of the Chamber of Deputies M. Poincare declared that he wished to form a group of the large Republican majority for national reconstruction. Referring to the Near Eastern problem he emphasised his desire to maintain the Entente with Britain and defined the attitude of France at the Lausanne Conference, which he said would be all moderation, frankness, friendship and agreement with the policy of the Allies.

FOR UNITED FRONT

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 12.—The morning newspapers publish the declarations of Signor Mussolini to French journalists, approving M. Poincare's action in wishing to hasten the Lausanne Conference and emphasising the necessity of a single Allied front with regard to Turkey.

Paris, Nov. 12.—As there is no longer any unemployment in the United States, it is proposed to modify the restrictions imposed on immigration to admit more foreign laborers.

COMMISSIONER QUITS CUSTOMS AFTER 39 YEARS

Leaves Ichang On Boat On Which He Arrived 25 Years Ago

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, Nov. 6.—Mr. C. Talbot-Powring, who has just retired from his post as Commissioner of Customs at this port, was presented with a handsome loving cup by the members of the foreign staff on his retirement. The presentation was gracefully made by Mrs. Nilson, on behalf of the staff, and was courteously acknowledged by the retiring Commissioner.

He has seen the long service of 39½ years in the Customs. It is interesting to note that he left here Saturday evening on the Changwo, the same steamer which brought him to Ichang 25 years ago when he had his first appointment as Acting Commissioner.

The good wishes of the whole community follow Mr. Talbot-Bowring into his retirement, and it is hoped that he will enjoy many years of leisure in the home land.

This part of the country is experiencing a considerable drought at the present time, and very little rain has fallen for about three months. There was 1.45 inches on August 11, and that was the last good rain. Throughout September there was only 1.21 inches, and during the whole of last month only .69 inch, which fell on three different days.

The country people are feeling the consequences of the drought, and the price of vegetables is soaring, as will all food stuffs if a good rain does not come soon.

B. A. T. ISSUES ULTIMATUM TO STRIKING STAFF

Those Not Returning By Nov. 15 To Be Barred; Strike Extends Here

The strike of B.A.T. cigarette factory workers, which has compelled two factories of the big tobacco company in Pootung to be closed for a week, spread to Shanghai yesterday when 140 women employed in the small B.A.T. factory at 10 Dixwell Road went on strike demanding higher wages, the dismissal of certain employes, and better working conditions.

At the same time it was announced that the company will close the factories to all workers who have not returned to work by 8 o'clock on November 15. The lockout threatened would mean that the concessions offered by the company would be cancelled and new employes hired.

The strike in the Shanghai factory, which is a minor manufactory, resulted in the arrest of six women. Four will be charged with inciting workers to strike. The other two are charged with having led the rush into the police station when their sister workers were arrested.

The general strike among the tobacco workers began a week ago as a sympathetic movement with the workers at a nearby cotton mill in Pootung who struck when their union head quarters were sealed up by the Chinese police.

The tobacco workers subsequently brought forward demands of their own including a demand for higher pay, the payment of strike pay, reopening of the Weavers' Union, and the payment of their share in the provident fund for the redemption of the Shantung Railway. The company has answered the demands with a number of concessions and readjustments with workers' representatives. The company refused to make a general increase in pay on the grounds that they were being paid wages as high as the same class of labor in other factories, and that their provident fund, rice allowance, and welfare work placed their employes on a higher scale than those of other factories.

The minimum scale paid the workers at present is said to be $13.

The British Cigarette Company has made the following terms to the strikers in the ultimatum which will shut them out of the factories unless they accept by tomorrow.

1.—The Provident Fund was established by the Company to provide for the comfort of their employes in old age. No deductions were made from existing wages for this fund. The Company guarantees that the money will be paid to each employe in accordance with the conditions and the amount shown in the employe's passbook. The money is a Trust Fund and cannot lawfully be devoted to any purpose except that specified in the Regulations.

2.—The Weavers Union was closed by the Chinese Authorities. The Company has no interest in the Union. It would not be proper for the Company to interfere between the Authorities and their own people.

3.—The Company pays, and is always ready to pay, its employes at rates which are as good as those paid to any similar grade of workers by other old established employers in Shanghai. These rates will be investigated and adjustments will be made, if necessary, without delay. The minimum wage for coolie labor in future will be 45 cents a day or $11.70 a month. Women workers working at the rate of 3½ cents per punch of 1,000 cigarettes are increased to 3½ cents, those at 3½ cents to 3¾ cents, those at 3¾ cents to 4 cents. Wages will be paid in big money.

4.—The working hours of the factory are 10 hours a day and all wages are assessed on this basis.

5.—Overtime work will not be used in future to make up for hours lost in ordinary working shifts. Rice Allowance will be given in future to any employe who has not been absent for more than 2 days during the month.

6.—Should the factory be specially closed on any Foreign Holiday a compensation wage will be paid.

7.—Employes will not be dismissed without reason.

8.—No employe will be dismissed on account of this strike.

9.—The Company will provide a Club for the recreation of its employes.

Knowledge is the foundation of eloquence.

but not at home," Mrs. Einstein retorted. "He's just like other men—he smokes cigarettes and throws the ashes on the carpet."

"No!"

"Indeed, he does."

"And does he eat the same food, do the same things, wear holes in his socks and all that sort of things like everybody else?"

Mrs. Einstein chuckled.

"As all the rest of them say when they do not comprehend," she laughed,—"relatively speaking, yes."

Discouraged Girl, Support Of Crippled Father, Is Suicide

A pathetic story was told at the public mortuary yesterday during an inquest over the body of a young Chinese woman who had committed suicide by swallowing a quantity of match-heads.

Poverty and an ever-increasing load of debt were the reasons assigned for the girl's act, as given in testimony of her father, whose sole support she was and who is a paralytic. Magistrate Li, touched by the old man's helplessness and sorrow made a personal donation of $10 to care for his immediate wants.

Chinese Woman Is Slain; Police Hold Husband

A Chinese woman, Zoa Hung-u, was found murdered in a field in the Yangtszepoo district yesterday. Her body, with the hands tied behind the back, and with a rope around the neck, was found near a road by some passing coolies. They reported the find to the Yangtszepoo police, who are investigating.

The woman, who was 21 years old, went with her husband on the day before to rent a house, and after completing this errand she went home to move their things. That was the last seen of her by her acquaintances. Inspector Johnson, of the Yangtszepoo police, was unable to find a motive for the crime, but is holding the husband pending an inquiry.

Serbs Vote Big Sum For New Armament

(Reuter's Service)

Belgrade, Nov. 13.—The National Assembly in secret session yesterday voted an armament credit of 800,000,000 dinars.

A semi-official declaration states that armaments are a normal necessity and that it is purely accidental that the vote should coincide with the complications in the Near East.

The exchange rate of the dinar in London at present is 270 to 1.

He had lived long enough to know that it is unwise to wish everything explained.

MANY EVENTS FOR GOLFERS; MANILA TEAM REACHES CITY

Interport Matches To Start At Kiangwan Tomorrow

CROWDED WEEK

Two Surprises In First Round Of Championship

This is to be a large week from a golfing standpoint in Shanghai, with three outstanding events to attract the interest of the local followers of the ancient pastime.

The week started with the first round of match play in the Shanghai golf club championship series, at Kiangwan.

Today, at 2:30 o'clock, the annual meeting of the Shanghai Golf Club will be held at the club house at the recreation ground. At this meeting there will be an election of officers and committeemen for the year.

Tomorrow and Thursday will see the interport match—Shanghai versus the team from the Manila Golf club. These matches are to be played at the Kiangwan links.

And on Sunday the semi-final round for the club championship will be played.

In the first round of match play for the club championship, on Sunday, the results were about as expected, with Ferrier, Lancaster, Beath and Cumming proving superior to their opponents. The only surprise of the day was furnished by Mr. Clay in his afternoon round against the club champion, which he won by a margin of one hole. This did not avail him anything, however, as Ferrier had taken the precaution to pile up an eleven hole lead in the morning round.

Lancaster defeated Porter by 2 and 1, and Beath defeated Malcolm by 4 and 3. In the other match, that between Cumming and Gray, the finish was close, with Cumming ahead on the thirty-sixth green by the slender margin of 1 up. To accomplish this victory the runner up in the championship of a year ago had to play some very fine golf, as he was six down at the conclusion of the morning round. Giving a player of Gray's caliber a six hole "spot" and then nosing him out at the finish is quite a feat.

Mr. Cumming's play in his championship play has been rather erratic this year, with a flash of his usual brilliancy coming just in time to save him. In the first 18 holes of the qualifying round he barely broke 90. He has plenty of good golf in him, however, and his friends are hoping that he will begin to get it out in old time style by next Sunday, when he and Mr. Beath meet in the semi final round. In these matches Mr. Ferrier is bracketed with Mr. Lancaster, and on form ought not to have much trouble in pressing through to the finals.

The Manila team, which arrived in time for a practice round over the Kiangwan course yesterday, comprises seven members, as follows: J. George, F. L. Manderfeld, John Grive, E. J. Nell, A. D. Gibbs, G. T. Todd and J. R. H. Mason. The following will represent the Shanghai club in the interport matches, which are to consist of foursomes and singles: J. B. Ferrier, Rev. W. P. Roberts, C. T. Beath, Capt. E. I. M. Barrett, K. M. Cumming, A Gray W. J. Hawkings and O. Crewe-Read.

The members of the two teams will have tiffin at the Shanghai club today, and on Friday evening the Shanghai Golf club members will be hosts to the visitors from Manila at a dinner at the Shanghai club. Members of the Shanghai Golf club are invited to this dinner.

PENN STATE BOWS TO NAVY, 14-0; SYRACUSE WINS

Annapolis Footballers Score Two Touchdowns; Yale Wallops Brown, 20-0

HARVARD BEATS FLORIDA

Nebraska Loses In Eastwest Battle; Army Wins 53-0

(Special To The China Press)

New York, Nov. 4 (delayed).—The Navy strengthened its claim to high gridiron honors for the 1922 season by decisively defeating the strong Penn State eleven this afternoon. The Annapolis machine broke through the Penn State defense for two touchdowns, winning 14 to 0.

Big Three elevens had comparatively easy contests. Harvard won a minor intersectional game by defeating the University of Florida, 24 to 0, while Yale triumphed over Brown, 20 to 0.

In the principal intersectional game of the day the East was victorious. Syracuse scored a 10-to-0 victory over the strong Nebraska Cornhuskers, touted as the best eleven of the Missouri Valley section.

The Army won an easy game from St. Bonaventure, 53 to 0.

The University of Wisconsin advanced a notch in the race for the Big Ten championship, defeating Minnesota, 14 to 0.

Illinois defeated Northwestern, 6 to 3. Both these teams had suffered previous defeats.

In the Missouri Valley the two Kansas teams won important victories. The Kansas State Agricultural College defeated the University of Missouri in a 14-to-0 contest, while the University of Kansas downed the Oklahoma Sooners, 19 to 3.

TENNIS TOURNEY AT FRENCH CLUB IS BIG SUCCESS

Two Hundred Players In And Many Upsets Noted; Mrs. Hicks Plays Well

Numerous surprises were recorded in the Autumn tennis tournament at the French club which ended Sunday after a week of play. In some instances the winners of earlier tournaments were defeated by rivals whom they had vanquished in the Summer play. More than 200 players participated in the tournament, which with the exception of one day, was carried on under very favorable weather conditions.

One of the biggest upsets was the defeat of Mr. W. P. Roberts in the singles, who lost to Mr. Mansel Smith in a hard fought four set match on the hard courts. Previous to the final Mr. Roberts had eliminated Mr. Sheldon, while the other finalist had put Mr. Elmore out of the running.

Mr. Sheldon didn't fare very well in the doubles, either, he and his partner, Mr. Mellie, being put out by Messrs. Graham and Blackstone. This pair were defeated in the finals, however, by the Elmore and Canavarro team, who earlier had defeated Messrs. Drummond and Mansel Smith.

In the mixed doubles the winners were Mr. Sheldon and Mrs. Norman, who defeated Mr. and Mrs. Elmore.

In the ladies' hard court singles Mrs. Hicks proved herself superior to Mrs. Elmore in the finals. In the doubles Mrs. Elmore and Mrs. Norman defeated Mrs. Pearson and Miss Petersen. This was a hard fought match, with both games and sets running to deuce.

In the handicap events, which were played on turf courts, Mr. Chapman won the singles after three hard fought sets, each of which went to deuce. Mr. Oliver was second and Mr. Maughan was third. In the ladies' doubles Mrs. Norman and Mrs. Watson defeated Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Harder.

In the American tournament the finishes were very even, only 17 points separating the first four teams. The summaries follow:

Event 1. Hardcourt Championship, Gentlemen's Singles: Result: Mansell-Smith beat W. P. Roberts 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 1-6, 6-3.

Event 2. Hardcourt Championship, Gentlemen's Doubles: Result: Elmore and Carnavarro beat Graham and Blackstone 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Event 3. Hardcourt Championship, Mixed. Won by Sheldon and Mrs. Norman, who defeated Mr. and Mrs. Elmore 6-1, 6-2.

Event 4. Hardcourt championship, Ladies Singles: Won by Mrs. Hicks—a walk over from Mrs. Elmore.

Event 6. Handicap, gentlemen's Singles:—First, Chapman, Second Oliver, Third Maughan.

Event 7, Handicap, gentlemen's doubles:—First, Elmore and Sheldon; Second, Lunt and Thomas.

SHANGHAI GETS FRIGHT

Tense Excitement As Visitors Snatch Victory; Captain's Boundary Gives Edge

The following addition details of the Shanghai victory over Hongkong in the Interport cricket have been received by Reuter's.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 11.—When play was resumed in the Interport Cricket match between Shanghai and Hongkong today, Evans and Olliver faced the bowling of Wilson and O'Hara. Olliver was bowled by Wilson when he had reached 3 runs and Evans was dismissed by the same bowler with 6.

Deeks, at wicket, caught Hancock smartly off Wilson before he had scored. The parternership between Webster and Pearce began cautiously but later they made a strong display. An unsuccessful appeal was made for L.B.W. against Pearce by Wilson and ten minutes afterwards he was nearly caught in the slips by Leach.

Spencer missed a high catch from Webster. Leach and Billings replaced Wilson and O'Hara and shortly after Leach took Pearce in the slips with a superb catch. Pearce's innings included 4 fours.

Five minutes later Webster was bowled by Billings for 31, including 5 fours. Stapleton and Havelock-Davies soon settled down and began to add appreciably to the score. Havelock-Davies hit the last ball before the interval out of the ground.

Shortly after the interval Wilson bowled Havelock-Davies and Sayer while Stapleton was caught

Waseda Gets Six Hits Off Bush A Week Ago When Yanks Won, 4-1

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, November 12.—The team of American big league baseball stars cloured their way to a 12-0 victory over Keio University this afternoon at the Shibaura Diamond. The visitors hit everything offered by the Japanese college hurlers.

Yesterday the Americans handed Waseda a 13-0 trimming. Thus the big league stars have tallied 25 runs in two days.

They go to Peking after games here and will arrive in Shanghai on December 16.

A crowd that approximated 12,000 howled with glee at the Shibaura diamond Sunday as the crack Waseda team, the pride of Tokio, scored against the All-America major league players and held that aggregation to the low score of 4 to 1. Waseda played a great game, but the play of the Americans, especially at the bat, savored of big league style only in streaks. The 12,000 would have been disappointed had not the closeness of the score elated them

Chang Shoots Goal Just Before End Of First Half; Penalty Gives Second

Nanyang University eleven defeated the football team of the Chin Woo Athletic Association yesterday on the former's ground. The score was two to nothing. Chang of Nanyang placed a beautiful shot through the upper left of Chin Woo's goal just before the whistle blew for interpolation, while another was added to the Sicawei exponents as a result of a penalty kick awarded them.

Billings' Six Beats H'kong; Leach Is Star

by Divecha of Wilson, the innings closing for 141.

Hayward and Ollerdessen opened the batting for Shanghai facing the bowling of Havelock-Davies and Reed. The first two wickets fell quickly but the partnership between Leach and Ollerdessen slowly and surely brought up the score. Evans replaced Havelock-Davies but was unable to separate the partners, who had run up the score to 54 when Ollerdessen was out L.B.W. to Evans.

Webster replaced Reed. Lees and Leach scored slowly in spite of frequent changes of bowling. Lees was bowled by Evans and the following combination of Clifford and Leach brought the score up to 126 when Clifford was caught in the slips by Quick off Havelock-Davies. After an innings of 23, including 1 four and 1 six.

Leach batted brilliantly for over two hours. He began in a guarded style but later hit out magnificently. His score of 79 included 9 fours.

There was a very faint chance of Hongkong snatching the victory when O'Hara and Billings went in and the excitement was tense.

They each scored 2 runs and required 4 to win when Billings stepped out to Webster and hit the ball over the boundary for 6 thus securing the victory. Billings was carried off shoulder high amidst vociferous applause.

and sent them home with a perverted idea of the respective abilities of the two teams.

The pitching of Taniguchi, the college groundsman, was easily the outstanding feature of the game. The Japanese southpaw gave a courageous and heady exhibition of hurling, holding the American sluggers to eight hits, well scattered. His last one was breaking nicely, causing the Americans to hit them up in the air for easy catches in the outfield.

BUSH PASSES SIX HITS

"Bullet Joe" Bush was on the mound for the Americans, and the Yankee star handed Waseda six singles by floating his slow ball down the alley to be pounded. Sewell showed himself to be a catcher whose future will be bright, but Sunday he was unable to hold Bush's speed, the speed that made him the most effective pitcher in the American League last season. Umpire Moriarity further handicapped the American pitcher by giving him none of the corners.

In the two opening innings only six Waseda men went to bat, but in the third a walk, two errors and a hit enabled them to tie the score 1 and 1, where it stayed until the Americans went to bat in the following inning. With one down in the third, Bush walked Umekawa. Hotta was safe at first when Griffith muffed his grounder, and Umekawa went to second. Oshita struck out, but Kubota landed on the ball for a pretty single into rightfield. Falk could have held Umekawa at third, but he let the ball get away from him, Umekawa scoring amid an uproar from the bleachers. Hotta went to third and Kubota to second. Matsumoto ended the inning when he was out at first, to Kelly unassisted.

Waseda threatened to score no more, although twice a runner reached second. Tanaka, the heavy-hitting "Babe" Ruth of Japan, failed to reach first although it took a snappy double play in the eighth to stop him. Matsumoto was safe on a single, and Tanaka sent a hot one across the dirt to Griffith, who threw out at second to Hunter, who pegged to first in time to stop Tanaka. The prize slugger had a heavy day in the field, however, and five times he raced around the center garden, arriving in time to nab balls from the American bats which went nearly to the fence.

HUNTER MAKES FIRST SCORE

Hunter started the scoring for the Americans by drawing a walk in the first inning. He went to second on Strunk's sacrifice, to third on Falk's single to right field and stole home when Oshita tried to throw out Falk. In the fourth Meusel opened with a single, going to second on Kelly's sacrifice and scoring when Stephenson rapped one into left field.

In the fifth inning Hunter singled to right field, Strunk scoring him with a pretty double to center. Strunk went to third when Falk sacrificed and scored on Kelly's single. That ended the run getting for the Americans, although Moriarity called Sewell out on a close decision at the plate the following inning. With one down Sewell singled, stole second and third and went home when Matsumoto dropped the ball at third. Matsumoto recovered and threw home in time to catch Sewell at the plate on a close play.

'TRIUMPH' CYCLE WINS TWO RACES AT TOKIO MEET

Ten Thousand See Races; No One Hurt When Grand Stand Collapses

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, November 13.—Much excitement was caused at the motor cycle races at the Suzuki ground today by the collapse of the grand stand, as the highest part of the stand, 98 feet, fell from the ground. No one was badly hurt. The stand was in two sections, and one collapsed a quarter of an hour after the other. The races, which lasted throughout the day, were witnessed by some 10,000 persons.

Tada of Osaka carried off the honors on his Triumph. In one race he covered the mile course in 1 minute and 7 seconds and he also won the last, the championship race, though in slightly worse time.

Two riders were thrown, and rather badly hurt, and another rider lost control of his machine and dashed into the crowd, severely injuring a 14 year old child. It was noticeable that much better machines were entered for these races than for the spring meet.

The races were under the auspices of the Tokio Motor Cycle Club and the army authorities.

MEDHURST TIES CHUNG HWA IN BITTER BATTLE

Chinese College Football Game Is 1-1 Draw; Shooting Is Poor

The association football game between Medhurst College and Chung Hwa Engineering College was played on the Medhurst College ground before a large crowd of spectators.

Although the fixture had been arranged with the Chung Hwa team, the visitors brought with them players from two other schools, and thus were able to place a strong combination on the field.

Medhurst College, however, attacked first, but were weak in front of goal. Both sides showed good form in mid-field but failed to shoot accurately when near goal. The Medhurst center-forward missed an open goal by placing the ball over bar, and the Chung Hwa forwards at the other end allowed the ball to roll harmlessly across the goal mouth and into touch. Half-time came with no score.

After half-time, the Chung Hwa XI wished to introduce two substitutes and claimed the privilege of an American rule to do so. The referee refused to allow any substitutes on the ground that unless decisions to the contrary are made before the match, the rules of association football must be followed.

In the second half both sides showed a strong defence but the forwards seemed to find the pace too hot for them. It was therefore only five minutes from time before the scoring was opened.

The Chung Hwa outside right dashed away and scored from an excellent cross-shot. This reverse seemed to put the Medhurst College forwards on their mettle, and during the next few minutes they bombarded their opponents' goal. Amidst great excitement they kept up the attack and one minute before time their efforts were rewarded. The ball was centered from the left and Ing Loon-sing had no difficulty in scoring. A minute later, the final whistle below with the score: Medhurst College, 1 goal; Chung Hwa Engineering college, 1 goal.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefully and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

The past is for wisdom, the present for action, but for joy—the future.

SUITS AGAINST DR. PAUL MARTIN ARE DISMISSED

Actions Brought By Pates Withdrawn In U. S. Court; Schuhl Objects

The separate actions brought by Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Pate against Dr. Paul Martin aggregating Tls. 30,000 were dismissed by Judge C. S. Lobingier in the U. S. Court for China without prejudice on a motion made by Mr. H. C. Mei, counsel for the plaintiffs. The Pates had sought to recover damages on the grounds that Dr. Martin had given inadequate treatment and made improper diagnosis of Mrs. Pate's case some months ago.

Mr. Mei stated that his clients had asked for a dismissal of the actions because they would only result in inconvenience and delay, inasmuch as Dr. Martin had already obtained a judgment recently against the plaintiffs in the British supreme court.

Mr. F. J. Schuhl who appeared for the defendant objected to the dismissal of the actions for the reason that the case had already been given widespread publicity and Dr. Martin must first be vindicated.

Judge Lobingier however overruled the motion and reiterated the fact that dismissal would only result in Dr. Martin's favor, and besides, according to law the plaintiff can withdraw a case provided it will not prejudice a defendant. He ruled that inasmuch as Dr. Martin had been vindicated by the British supreme court, dismissal in this instance would in no wise be prejudicial.

SCARLET FEVER CLOSES SCHOOL; STUDENT DIES

Lillian Bacon Of American School Succumbs; Every Precaution Taken

The American School has been ordered closed for at least a week by Dr. J. C. McCracken, the school physician, as a result of the death yesterday of Lillian Bacon from scarlet fever.

Little Miss Bacon, aged 13 of the Seventh Grade was the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Bacon of the Nantungchow Christian Mission and one of the most popular boarding pupils in the school. On Thursday evening after attending a football game in Hongkew Park, red splotches made their appearance on her face and arms. Dr. McCracken was immediately summoned and he rushed her to the infirmary, where she died on Sunday morning. The funeral and interment will take place today at 3 p.m. at Bubbling Well cemetary.

According to Dr. McCracken, every precaution has been taken against the spread of the disease. The school rooms were all fumigated at once and all the children examined. No further cases have developed and it is believed that the disease was checked at its inception, but in order to be on the safe side, the boarding school pupils have all been kept in strict quarantine.

Long hikes into the open country will be taken every day in order to keep the children in the outdoors as much as possible. It is anticipated that classes will be resumed after a week providing of course no more cases develop in the interim.

Americans Seek China's Aid Against Narcotics

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 10.—The International Anti-Opium Association has received the following communication from the China Club White Cross Society, Seattle:

Enactment of the Jones-Miller Bill having been secured, two other great narcotic measures now call for our support, one of them national and the other international.

The national measure is one providing care and treatment for the victims of narcotic addiction. A moderate estimate of their number is from 500,000 to 1,000,000. No provision exists except a few private hospitals and the jails and lunatic asylums. With adequate care many may be saved and others kept from spreading addition.

In August, 1919, a Bill was introduced by Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, which provided that the Federal Government should add an equal amount to all appropriations made by the several States. It also appropriated surplus medical and hospital equipment not immediately needed by the Army and the Navy Departments, the movement to be under the direction of the United States Public Health Service.

BILL NOT UNDERSTOOD

This Bill received the support of the Administration, but there was then little knowledge of the narcotics situation throughout the country, and the Bill died for lack of popular support. Senator Wesley L. Jones has conferred with Senator France who is willing to reintroduce the Bill, with aid from Senator Jones.

The White Cross urges that letters be sent at once to the Hon. Joseph I. France, The Senate, Washington, D. C., commending the Bill and requesting that it be again introduced. The measure receives the hearty support of our Medical Committee.

The international measure is of equal or greater importance. No one nation can save itself from narcotics. The drug is so easily smuggled and nefarious gains accruing from it so enormous that as long as a few nations raise the poppy and manufacture opium its products will fly across oceans and all international boundaries.

The United States has hitherto taken the lead in international opium conventions, one of which was secured by President Roosevelt in 1909, and others followed at The Hague in 1911 and 1913. The last of these closed its sittings in May 1914, when practically all nations agreed on suppression of the traffic except for legitimate medical uses.

The world war came on at once, and these promises and pledges were forgotten. It is now everywhere recognised that the only way to get effective action is for the United States again to assume the leadership.

Hon. Stephen J. Porter, Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, has been in conference with President Harding who cordially supports a plan for an international convention for which Mr. Porter proposes to introduce a Bill.

The White Cross requests all Chapters and representatives to write to Mr. Porter in support of the measure. Only international action can do the work.

FRAWLEY TROUPE ARRIVES TODAY ON THE MCKINLEY

"Smilin' Thru" Is Selected For Opening Production At Olympic Thursday

Adele Blood and T. Daniel Frawley with their dramatic company are due to arrive in Shanghai this morning aboard the "President McKinley" and will open an engagement at the Olympic Theater on Thursday evening. Miss Blood and Mr. Frawley are bringing to Shanghai a New York cast and a suitcase full of new, New York and London successes. The first play will be "Smilin' Thru."

The Japan Advertiser of Sunday, November 5, prints the following criticism of the Frawley Company's premiere in Yokohama.

"Smilin' Thru," the great play by Alan Langdon Martin, which was a tremendous success in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, won new plaudits yesterday afternoon in a brilliant presentation by the Adele Blood—T. Daniel Frawley Company in the Gaiety Theater.

"Smilin' Thru" deals with youth, love, misunderstanding and a sadly misplaced desire for revenge. The play abounds in excellent repartee, and although the lines bring one close to tragedy at times, still the cleverness of relieving bits of dialogue prevent depression. Part of the play in the reproduction of happenings of 50 years ago recalls the famous sleighbell incident in Sir Henry Irving's presentation of "The Bell."

MISS BLOOD WELL RECEIVED

Miss Blood as Kathleen Dungannon, the ward, by her excellent enunciation and presence seemed to be the personification of the famous English actress, Miss Ellen Terry, in Miss Terry's interpretation of Portia in "The Merchant of Venice." Miss Blood's modulation of voice in a part which brought out her excellent stage presence and personal beauty brought much applause from her audience.

Mr. Frawley, in his interpretation of the old family doctor, ably supported Mr. Light as John Carteret, the self-opinionated guardian. Mr. Frawley's talented acting brought several rounds of applause from the audience.

Herbert Light, as John Carteret, played the role with his usual skill. As the type of actor who can play an old man's part he has won laurels in his appearance in Yokohama. Mr. Light has appeared in Sir Herbert Tree's company in days gone by and judging from his acting, he has made the most of his opportunities.

Bert Nedell as Jeremiah Wayne, the lover, the subject for John Carteret's blind hate, played his role with dignity and skill, and in this part proved that he is an actor of versatility.

Many persons in the audience wondered how Miss Blood produced the effect of appearing as a supernatural being. In that scene she wore a radium gown, a rare gem of costumery which heretofore has only been seen in Flo Ziegfield's "Follies of 1922" and Irving Berlin's "Music Box Revue."

The sense of existence is the greatest happiness.

PATROL THE AIR FOR MEXICAN RUM

Dry Agents Will Be Equipped With Planes On International Line

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 19.—Federal Prohibition enforcement officers on the Rio Grande border are to be provided with airplanes to scout for airplane liquor runners from Mexico. It is known that enormous quantities of contraband liquors are brought over from Mexico by airplanes. It is asserted that some of these aerial liquor ships carry their cargoes as far north as Oklahoma.

There is a possibility that the mystery of the airplane which was abandoned and destroyed on a farm near here recently, when its load of several dozen quarts of whiskey was about to be seized may be solved by the arrest a few days ago of Earl F. Evans. He was arraigned before the United States Commissioner here for violating the Volstead act and waived preliminary examination. His bond was fixed at $1,000.

In a sworn statement G. B. Mason, special agent of the Treasury Department, affirmed that Earl F. Evans is the same man who gave his name as Earl C. Davis, who was apprehended Aug. 10 near Nueva Laredo, Mexico, by Mexican customs officials, when it is claimed his airplane landed on Mexican soil to take on a load of twelve cases of tequila.

In the sworn statement by Mr. Mason he declares that Evans is a representative of the Curtis Airplane and Motor Corporation, and that he makes his headquarters at the old Stinson flying field near San Antonio.

"On the 16th inst. Jose R. Estrada, Commandante in the Mexican customs service at Nueva Laredo," the statement or Mr. Mason continues, "stated that he and two other Mexican customs officials arrested Earl F. Evans, alias Earl C. Davis, on Mexican soil with an airplane, and that shortly after his apprehension a car containing three Mexicans drove up to the airplane with a number of sacks containing approximately twelve cases of tequila.

"These three Mexicans admitted to the Mexican customs officials that the liquor was intended to be transported by Earl F. Evans, alias Earl C. Davis, by airplane to San Antonio, and Earl F. Evans corroborated said statement to me this date at San Antonio in the presence of Inspector of Customs L. Sulzbacher. The aforesaid liquor and airplane are now in custody of the Mexican officials at Nueva Laredo, Mexico."

Even since the airplane crash near here officers have been working on the air-smuggling ring. Ten days after the accident on the farm the arrest of Evans was reported.

Tidal Wave Hits Hawaiian Coast

New York, Nov. 12.—A report from Hawaii states that a tidal wave swept the bay on Friday evening, washing all craft towards the sea. There were no casualties. A panic occurred among the Japanese living along the waterfront.

Agriculture Crisis Depresses Holland

The Hague, Oct. 7.—Hilland, land of agriculture, market gardening and horticulture, is now going through a severe crisis in these industries which in ordinary times form the economic backbone of the country, but are almost at a complete standstill.

The main reason for this crisis is the reduced purchasing power of most European countries, but especially Germany, who for the last twenty years had been the main consumer and before the war imported 60 to 90 percent of most of this produce, especially vegetables, but now imports practically nothing. England also is importing much less, so that the Dutch now see tons of produce rotting in the fields.

Next to Belgium, Holland is the most thickly populated country in Europe, and the soil is cultivated intensively. Breadstuffs, folder and vegetable fats are imported, whereas agricultural and horticultural products requiring fertile soil and knowledge of these industries are exported. These include butter, cheese, pedigree cattle, fresh meat, flowers and flower bulbs, fine vegetables, fruit, etc.

The present crisis is similar to the agricultural depression of 1880 to 1895 when the competition of American cereals reduced prices to an unprofitable level, causing agriculture to trend in the direction of horticulture.

The crisis is likely to extend and lead to a general lowering of wages, which is regarded as the first condition for improvement. The economic and financial situation is such that the Government is unable to grant a subsidy and the Dutch at present see no remedy. In the case of fruit and certain vegetables, however, they are looking hopefully to the American market. The Agriculture Association sent a representative to New York and samples of the famous Westerland grapes and also of tomatoes and other vegetables are now being forwarded. The Holland-America Line has promised cooperation if the experiment is successful, but must first install sufficient refrigerators for the purpose. Moreover, the Dutch fear further American protective tariffs may form obstacles.

Until about twenty years ago the exports of Dutch produce of the soil went mainly to Great Britain. Then Germany came into the market and the exports of butter, for instance, to Germany between 1902 to 1912 increased from 5,000 tons to 18,000 tons. The collapse of the mark in the last few months has so seriously affected Dutch exports, however, that agriculturists are in despair. Not only are they unable to find outlets for their produce, but whereas the prices of cereals, potatoes and beetroots have fallen to the prewar level, wages are now more than double. Horses are unsaleable and vegetables fetch nearly nothing. Thus thousands of industrious horticulturists and farmers are in great distress, for apart from higher wages and other expenses, taxation and railway freights have increased. Middlemen still, however, take big profits so that consumers are not benefited.

Spot bar silver was down ¼d and forward 3-16d in London on Saturday. The New York price declined to 64⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 446½. The only change in our official quotations here today was a drop in the Franc rate to 1100. Notwithstanding the drop in the London price of silver on Saturday, our market here today was on the firm side, speculators being sellers. At the opening there were sellers of Sterling at 3-2⅞ for December-January delivery and of Gold Dollars at 72¾ for November, 72⅝ for December and 72½ for forward delivery. Although there were more sellers than buyers at these rates, a fair amount of business was done at this level. However, the market firmed up particularly in the afternoon when business in Sterling was done as high as 3s. 3⅛d. for December-January delivery and in Gold Dollars at 72⅞ for January. At the close there were sellers of Sterling at 3s. 3d. for November-December-January delivery and buyers at ⅛d. higher. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 72½ November, 72⅝ December and 72¾ for forward delivery. There were Yen sellers at the close at 66⅜ for December-January delivery, and buyers at 66⅝. Banks were quoting 3s. 3⅛d. for Sterling bills, 74¼ for Gold Dollar bills and 1160 for Franc bills. China sold silver again in London on Saturday and speculators bought. The undertone of the market is reported as easy. There was no business done in the New York market on Saturday.

Activity Again Marked In Cotton Shares Here; Boom Is Anticipated

Activity in the cotton spinning and weaving shares listed on the Shanghai Stock Exchange is again marked and it is very likely to approuch very large proportions within a very short time.

While there is no unrestrained optimism expressed regarding the industry in particular, a feeling prevails that the worst of the depression is over. Some well-informed people are of the opinion that we are on the threshold of a big boom on the local Stock Exchange.

The present, of course, lends itself to such a manifestation, as money is extremely abundant and the outlet for employing it rather lacking. It is stated on fairly good authority that money will continue to be cheap even after the Chinese New Year.

Recent years have witnessed the coming into existence of a large number of Chinese banks, and these institutions have funds lying idle. The question perplexing them is how best to utilise these with a degree of safety. In the absence of any movement in the trade of the country calling for much financing, these banks are now compelled nolens volens to advance money on shares. The natural result of this has been a new lease of life to the stock markets, which will continue to grow better as funds become available for more general operations.

In recent weeks we have seen how marked the rise has been in the values of cotton shares on the Stock Exchange. Ewos, which not long ago had glided from Tls. 17 down to Tls. 11.50 per share, stand today with buyers at Tls. 14. At the beginning of October, Orientals were being marketed at Tls. 6.50, but today there are buyers at Tls. 10 and the prospect of seeing them go up to probably Tls. 14 is freely spoken of. Shanghai Cottons, which until the middle of last week, appeared to have been neglected, is now receiving the greatest attention among all cotton shares, the rise in this stock within the last month being rather phenomenal.

In the beginning of October these shares were selling at Tls. 100 and less, but today they are commanding Tls. 127 for cash and Tls. 130 for December, at which prices business was done on the local Stock Exchange yesterday.

It is said that there is a good deal behind the buying of Shanghai Cottons, and also that this is only a little canter in the big race that is expected to set in shortly. Within the past week there has been a steady appreciation in values.

NOT JUSTIFIED

In the light of the lean months that most of the cotton spinning and weaving months passed in September and October, and the very strong likelihood of much smaller dividends than were distributed last year, it would seem that these increases in cotton stock prices are not wholly justified. The general tendency during prosperous times, when money is easy and plentiful, is to ignore such factors, and not to attach very serious importance to them in arriving at "real" values of securities. This is just what is happening now on the Shanghai Stock Exchange, and also on the Hongkong Stock Exchange.

Operators are content with dabbling in stocks provided the industries embraced by them are in fairly sound position, irrespective of the fact whether the rise is warranted by the position of the companies.

The Ewo, Oriental and Shanghai Cotton Companies are very sound concerns, and were these mills to be put up for sale and liquidated the proceeds and the reserves would enable a distribution much larger than the values of these shares command today on the Stock Exchange. But this is not what all investors usually ask themselves when sinking their money into any industrial stock. To them the question resolves itself into one of yield. The majority of the investors in Shanghai expect return of at least seven percent on their money, while not a few look for nine to ten percent to protect them in case of any depreciation in values. So much for intrinsic values.

LOOK TO DIVIDENDS

In view of the depressing two months that the cotton mills passed recently, it would be a hazardous risk to forecast what dividends the big mills will pay at the end of their financial years. The Ewo Cotton and Spinning Mills, of which Messrs. Jardine Matheson are agents, distributed last year a dividend of Tls. 3.50, the Oriental Cotton and Spinning Mills (Messrs. Arnhold Brothers agents) paid Tl. 1 per share and the Shanghai Cotton Mills (Mitsui Busan Kaisha Ltd. agents) divided the profits at Tls. 12.50 per share.

With the financial years of these companies drawing near the rumours have been busy on the prospects of distributions. All these companies have this year kipped their interim dividends, principally as a precautionary measure against indiscretion in the face of a bad yarn market. What do you think Ewos and Orientals would pay as dividend?" is the pet question asked of stock brokers by holders of shares. Opinions vary. A month ago the best of optimists did not think that Ewos would give more than half a tael to a tael per share the utmost, while one was told that if Orientals paid more than a quarter tael per share or even that it would be a surprise. Shanghai Cottons were not backed as well, a dividend of three taels per share was the utmost the sages said the investors and holders would dream of getting.

With the improvement of cotton yarn prices comes brighter hopes of better dividends than anticipated a couple of months ago, or even last month for a matter of that. Ewos are expected to distribute a tael-and-a-half per share, Orientals half a tael and Shanghai Cottons some seven taels per share. Assuming that such hopes are extravagant—and they might be too conservative eventually when the books of the companies come to be audited—the present values, according to the well recognised plan, would not be very safe "buys."

This outburst of activity in the cotton section is likely to recur, as long as the prosperity of the companies in this branch continues, especially in view of the hopes entertained in many quarters of better times in future. Undoubtedly the activity in cotton shares is due not so much to the improved technical position of the yarn market, but to the large amount of capital now knocking about, which finds investment in any fairly good stock.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BABY HAS INDIGESTION

In babies and very young children indigestion is caused by errors in diet, frequently by over feeding. Its symptoms are loss of appetite peevishness, wind vomiting, furred tongue, bad breath, hic-cough and restless nights. The best treatment is Baby's Own Tablets, which clear away the offending matter and sweeten the stomach. With proper attention to the diet they usually effect a prompt cure.

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are the most valuable medicine you can have in the nursery. They are guaranteed free from opiates and absolutely harmless, and are a remedy for teething troubles, constipation, colic, diarrhoea, simple fever and worms. They promote a healthy appetite, restful sleep and regular development.

Sold by chemists, or by mail at 60 cents the vial by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

One should conquer the world not to enthrone a man but an idea, for ideas exist forever.

The Slump In The Mark

GERMANY has no lack of skilled bankers and instructed financiers, yet the authorities seem to be proceeding as if foolish and futile attempts to cope with the evils of an enormously inflated currency had never been heard of before. The Government is taking measures on the old model—the classic model, it might be called—of the French Revolution.

Once more the speculators in foreign exchange are held up as the guilty men, not the officials who by their mad course have made the wild fluctuations in exchange possible. There is talk of closing up the brokers' offices and "raiding" the banks that do business in foreign currencies.

As for the great numbers of Germans who hasten to get rid of their masses of depreciated marks for whatever they will bring in dollars or francs or guilders, why, they are to be regarded as little better than traitors to their country. All this seizing upon mistaken remedies is painfully like that of the American Congress fifty years ago when it moved against those who were dealing in gold in New York as if they were public enemies.

It is not strange that the German Government is alarmed at the downward plunge of the mark, with its erratic variations from day to day. The result is to make all business transactions difficult and precarious. Furthermore, the chaotic currency of Germany is a distinct invitation to the Reparation Commission to make use of its power under the Versailles Treaty to assert control of German public finance. It is said that the members of the commission are seriously considering what their duty may be. Probably their first step would be to issue a solemn warning to the German Government, to the effect that if it did not adopt the necessary measures some foreigner would be sent to do the work, just as an Italian has been named to take charge of the reorganisation of the finances of Austria.

Germans familiar with economic history know well enough what ought to be done. The floods of paper marks coming from the printing press by the billion every week ought to be dried up. The unmanageable masses of outstanding paper money ought to be declared to be legally, what they are in fact, worthless. Then some kind of currency with a fixed relation to gold should be adopted. In the end some such plan will have to be followed; and it is a mournful waste of time for the German Government to run off on false scents when the true path to economic stability lies plain before it.

How To Be Beautiful

BY LUCREZIA BORI

a Member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Admired for Her Beauty as Well as Her Art.

A strong and lovely neck seems to be more and more the definite beauty objective toward which many women are working.

There are perhaps other parts of her body about which the average woman thinks first. The face, of course, is of primary importance. And the woman who guards her beauty carefully thinks of her figure and watches it as studiously as she watches for any marring blackhead or pimple upon her rose-like complexion.

Then, too, every thinking woman is very, very careful about the appearance of her hands. From time immemorial hands have been considered an important factor in summing up one's character, and they are obviously of the utmost importance in their bearing on a woman's beauty.

We hear of the famous Mme. de Stael, who used to toy with rose petals while she talked, that she might call attention to the beauty of her hands, which were her best feature.

True, we do not hear so much of the beautifying of the neck, but still we know that those women of olden times could not have been unmindful of the power of a beautiful, strong, white throat. They were far too well versed in the lore of charm for that! Perhaps their throats kept strong and lovely without extra care.

We know that in the costumes they wore their necks showed as much or more than do those of the women of today. Mme. de Stael's Empire gowns were low-cut at the throat, a style more becoming than the straight-across neckline of today. This modish neckline, which seems to have come to stay, is modest and conservative in cut, and certainly is more becoming than the tight choker collars of a few years ago.

It is true that the modern woman's neck is exposed little below the collar bone, but the modern woman strives for perfection, and she wants her neck to be as strong and beautiful as possible.

If you are with her in this respect, here is an exercise which will help you attain your ideal:

It is better to stand erect, as the proper position does much to help you put force into the exercise and gain more from it. Be sure that your shoulders are straight and your chest well out.

Now, bow your head, drawing your chin well in to your body. Clasp your hands, palms down, at the back of your neck.

Pull your head slowly back until you are looking up, at the same time pressing down with your hands on the back of your neck.

Lower your head and repeat.

Do this exercise ten or fifteen times before going to bed at night. It should fill out the hollows of your neck and give it that strong, well-moulded appearance which makes for beauty.

Collins And Griffith On Irish Postage Stamps

Dublin, Oct. 9.—Letters are appearing in the daily Irish press urging the Government to follow the American practice and have the new Irish postage stamps bear the portraits of Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, as being the two men most responsible for Ireland's present independence. The post office already has selected three designs for the new stamps—the map of Ireland, the Gaelic cross and the coats of arms of the four provinces, but regards the recent suggestions with favor, and probably will see that the two Irish patriots are commemorated.

THE PATH

I have become enamored of a path,
And oh! my heart is lost eternally,
Nor any peace nor satisfaction hath
Unless I follow where it beckons me.

This morn I found it straying by a brook
And skirting woods and pasture land at will,
At noon in fickle fancy it forsook
The forest's depths to climb a windy hill.

I followed after, though the ardent quest
Let far from friendly shade of field and tree;
The sun grew dim and faded in the west,
But still my wayward path eluded me.

Just now beyond those rocks I saw it turn
And wave at me a wisp of withered grass,
And I am off again, for I must learn
On what adventures yet my love will pass.

Who knows the many wonders I shall see,
How far afield my eager feet may roam,
For I shall coax my path to wait for me
And down the hill together we come home!

Hon. Mrs. Dowdall On Reincarnation

The Hon. Mrs. Dowdall tells here the sort of parents she would choose should she be reincarnated and the advice she would give them. The writer is a daughter of the sixteenth Baron Borthwick (the Scottish peerage was created in 1452 and is now extinct). She was married to Harold Chaloner Dowdall, formerly Lord Mayor of Live[illegible].

Liverpool, Oct. 1.—It is nervous work, as we know, being any one's husband or wife, but I am often appalled at the riskiness of being the first baby of even the best mother. One of the nightmares of my life is that we should ever advance so far in the control of mind as to skip the dawn of consciousness and suffer babyhood with a full knowledge of what we are about. With what dread a poor infant would then sit in its perambulator at the door of some worthy bookseller and hear its mamma speak the fatal words that will make her the possessor of a book on "What a Parent May Do." Picture to yourself its agony in being obliged to listen, speechless, while mamma reads aloud passages of advice on the danger of allowing baby to breathe the contaminated air of its protector at night. Imagine ourselves, as the baby, catching sight over mamma's shoulder (if she is unhygienic enough to allow us the comfort of an arm clothed by a possible tuberculous dressmaker) of a diagram showing the kind of moonfaced centipedes that inhabit the meals we love.

It will be all very well for her to agitate the pages in search of the meaning of the cries we shall then utter. She may attribute them to hereditary gout or to an unfortunate episode in her own past when she fell in love with the plumber at the age of three: she may, with luck, be prehistoric enough to suspect a bent pin. But she will be sure to scorn the instinct that would tell her we cry because we want her to put the book in the fire and let well alone.

"What shall it profit a man," we may trace with soapy finger on the side of the bath that evening, "if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul." For "world" read "baby ways," we should believe, I believe, feel like poor Mr. Shakespeare trying to write his plays in a world organised by Karl Marx. What is the use of living if it is all going to be so abominably the best. No dust, no danger, no dons; a pill and a poem administered in love when we have stuffed little brother's ears and thrown papa's watch at the cat; no society except in such small doses as the specialist assures mamma will not give us brain-fag. What brainfag of imagination could equal the soulfag of so much reason!

If worse should befall, that reincarnation becomes a habit and I must set out again for this earth fully equipped with memory, I will select for my own two of the most judicious parents I can find. They shall be the dearest couple, eager to do their best for me, and I will try to do my part by showing them where their anxious fondness leads them across the boundary of parental duty. I will acquiese in some of their theories, admitting that the pedagogues spoke wisely up to a point, even in my old days. But there are matters on which I am prepared to be an infant Dichard.

I will put up with sleeping alone in a dark room, uncontaminated by nurse's carbonic snoring, and I will drink up my aseptic nourishment because it tastes as good as any other and will, undoubtedly, give me more power of resistance on the battle to come. Clucking, kissing visitors to the nursery are no deprivation either. I shall be all with mother there. But if she attempts to come and sit beside me when I am droping off to sleep and murmurs to my subconscious mind her conviction that I am going to be a very good boy and oh! so clever in business and help father, and not be a worry running after girls, then I won't listen.

I will stuff the pillow round my ears and repeat again and again, "Every day and in every respect your suggestions become weaker and weaker." Food she shall do as she likes with and clothes, within limits, until I go to school; but I will endure no fostering or foisting of tastes that she has cooked out for me in a book. When I grow strong enough to direct a pen I propose to write a work of my own in which I shall deflect some of the elders' admirable ideas from my own superfluous store of benefit and persuade them to share with me. I shall recommend grown-up people to study and prescribe for one another, classifying and treating each other as if they were creatures of a different kind—zoological specimens.

I will recommend mother to draw father's attention, whenever opportunity offers, to the idea that betting on horses is domestically uneconomic. I shall advise her to take him to Mme. Tussaud's and stand in silence before "The Gambler's Career," and then pass on to the National Gallery (I cannot say, without the catalogue, exactly where she should pause, but I know there are Dutch interiors, for instance, where the interplay of thrift and riches is exquisitely suggested). I would have her hum Bach to him when he wants to tinker with the car and dinner is waiting.

Him I would counsel to teach her to eschew at-homes and make a nest for him in the house he has selected for her. He should encourage her in a gentle bass to stitch, bake, boil, renovate, wash and clear starch, walk, climb stairs and play with me; not forgetting to spend at least two hours every day in the study of 'bus routes and simple finance. It will be her task to see that his food is plain and not excessive, containing vitamines; his, to ensure that her clothing affords her adequate covering and is of a kind that may be frequently washed rather than replaced. He shall talk to her of Griselda and Desdemona and Hermione. She shall tell him of King Arthur and George Washington.

In short, my parents shall study one another as they do their offspring, and if they learn little of value in the end it will do no harm, and it will leave me free to get on with all the enchanting things I intend to do.

Kikero Or Cicero?

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority On Subjects Of Scientific Interest

"I am a student in a Latin class in public high school. I discover that the public school pronunciation of Latin words differs from that used in the Jesuit schools. The public schools have no sound of long "c"; their "c's" are always pronounced as "k" in cake. The Jesuit schools pronounce Latin words according to the English pronunciation, the "c's" being long. For instance, they pronounce Cicero "Sisero," while the public schools call it "Kikero." The Jesuit schools only use the "k" sound before diphthongs. Which is correct?"—V. D'A., Bronx.

I regret to learn that the public schools teach their pupils to say "Kikero" for Cicero. The name of the great Roman is so familiar in ordinary English conversation and public speaking that it ought to be pronounced in accordance with the genius of the English language. And, in fact, the best authorities on the pronunciation of the words commonly used in our language, as far as I have observed, give, or prefer, the same pronunciation that you say is used in Jesuit schools.

In this respect the latter certainly show a wise understanding of what is easiest and most natural to the English-speaking tongue and most agreeable to ears accustomed to hear the English language.

The name of Caesar is another familiar Latin word that, in my opinion, ought always to be pronounced by us in accordance with English usage, the first syllable being pronounced as "see." The "ae" in this word is not properly a diphthong, but a digraph, that is, a union of two letters representing a single, inseparable sound, and that sound is "ee" and not "i." In a true diphthong each of the united letters contributes a distinguishable element to the pronunciation of the syllable.

It seems to me unnecessarily pedantical to try to imitate, or to teach pupils to imitate, what may be supposed to have been the vocal peculiarities of the speakers of a language that ceased to be currently used for the purposes of active life many centuries ago, and even for a thousand years after the people who developed it had fallen from their high estate to become mingled with barbarian hordes, was corrupted in its syntax by the uncultivated minds and in its orthoepy by the crude voices of savage conquerors.

In strict fact, nobody can tell exactly how the Latins in the days of Cicero and Caesar pronounced their words and their names, and if we knew for certain, it would not necessarily be desirable for us, with our different trained vocal organs, to learn their way. The cost would exceed the value, except for a few special scholars.

Cicero's words have melted into literature, and it is only as literature that they affect us today. The sounds of the voices of Cicero and of Marc Anthony died away in the air of the Forum and amid the sculptured sediments of the temples, where the birds fluttered at the reverbration of the shouts and plaudits of the listening multitudes below. But in script and in print they are present to our minds, through our eyes, after two thousand years—years that have preserved the visible form, but not the sonorous qualities of their words.

If we try to imagine the sound of Cicero's voice and words when he denounced Catiline or scarified Verres, or those of Antony standing above the bloodstained form of Caesar and "rousing the stones of Rome to mutiny," we instinctively hear the accents of some great orator of our own day, and the words, though Latin in orthography, pronounce themselves to us in the familiar tones of English phonology.

The peoples who have sprung up on the old Latin soil and overspread the lands that were the immediate possessions of Rome in the great days of the republic and the first empire, have built up their languages on a Latin basis, but have no more retained the Latin pronunciation than the classic Latin vocabulary and construction.

The Italian "c" before "i" or "e" has the sound of neither "k" nor "s," but that of "ch" in chin. The Spanish "c" before "i" or "e" is sounded like "th" in thin.

Whenever Latin words and names have survived in common use and entered into everyday speech the natural tendency is to pronounce them according to the ordinary phonetic rules of the living language into which they may have been adopted. This unquestionably accords with the greatest convenience, and can hardly be swept aside by the arguments urged in favor of a common pronunciation of Latin to be used by all modern peoples, because such pronunciation could never be made really uniform.

In a word, it seems preferable that the assumed original Latin pronunciation should not be forced upon the names of great historic characters and localities, that have become virtually a part of the vocabulary of our language.

"POLISH" REFUGEES

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir: I have to refer to the article published in your paper of November 8 entitled "Polish refugees in need here; Donations asked," in which mention is made of the Polish Committee having refused to help certain Polish citizens because of their having left Harbin without permission from the Polish Consulate there. As this letter is a misrepresentation of facts, and may cause criticism on the part of those not familiar with the work of the Committee, the Committee has requested me to advise you of the following, and ask that you give this letter full publicity:

The Polish Committee has been officially advised by the Polish Consulate in Harbin that the 30 Polish refugees concerned in this article are not Polish citizens, but are merely persons who have applied for Polish citizenship, and until their applications have been approved by the proper authorities they cannot be considered as Polish citizens.

The Polish Committee, however, being a charitable institution only, has not regarded the matter of assistance to these refugees from a purely legal point of view, and has donated Mex. $100, through Mrs. Eveleigh, to help these people, disregarding their citizenship.

The funds of the Polish Committee at present are very limited, owing to the large expenditures incurred in connection with the repatriation of a great number of Polish refugees, and therefore the Committee is unable to make any larger donations, especially in view of the fact that there are many bonafide Polish citizens who so manifestly require assistance.

Trusting that this letter will disperse any unfavorable impressions which may have been created by the article in question, I am, Yours very truly,

George A. Moszrovski.
Secretary.

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

U. S. Court For China

Decision in the case of G. Steinberg against Oscar Wagman based on alleged breach of contract has been handed down in the United States Court for China by Judge Lobingier. The decision is in favor of the plaintiff who is awarded the sum of Mex. $11,641.22 and Taels 91. The text of the decision is as follows:

"Plaintiff alleges an agreed balance of account signed by defendant and growing out of a contract between the parties for the purchase and forwarding of a certain quantity of Siberian horse tails. In his answer defendant fails to deny the approval of the account or the execution of the contract (in testifying he admits both) but alleges that the latter "is null and void because obtained by the plaintiff by duress". Further, and by way of explanation, defendant alleges that he had previously entered into a different agreement with the defendant which the latter promised, but failed to reduce to writing and that by virtue of said agreement, which was more favorable to him, defendant made certain advances after which plaintiff gave notice that defendant had failed to observe a stipulation (which defendant claims was not in the contract) for a deposit of Yen 70,000, and that by reason of such failure the agreement was "null and void" and the deposit "forfeited". It was on account of this notice, defendant claims and to save his advances, that he signed the agreement and approved the account in question.

The doctrine of "duress of goods" has been recognised and applied by this Court; but the case in which it was announced was very different from this which more nearly resembles one in which the Supreme Court held that a charter-party executed by the owner of certain vessels in order to obtain the compensation due him under a previous agreement was not void for duress. The opinion was written by a Justice noted for his strong sense of equity and the following language therefrom seems quite applicable here:

"Instead, however, of seeking the aid of the law, claimants, with a full knowledge of their legal rights, executed new charter-parties, and, from time to time, received payments according to the rates prescribed therein protesting, when the new agreements were signed, that they were executed against their wishes and under the pressure of financial necessity. They now seek the aid of the law to enforce their rights under the original charter-parties, upon the ground that those last signed were executed under such circumstances as amounted, in law, to duress. Duress of, or in, what? Not of their persons, for there is no pretense that a refusal, on their part, to accede to the illegal demand of the quartermaster's department would have endangered their liberty or their personal security. There was no threat of injury to their persons or to their property, to avoid which it became necessary to execute new charter-parties. Nor were those charter-parties executed for the purpose, or as a means of obtaining possession of their property. They yielded to the threat or demand of the department solely because they required, or supposed they required, money for the conduct of their business or to meet their pecuniary obligations to others. Their duty, if they expected to rely upon the law for protection, was to disregard the threat of the department, and apply to the courts for redress against its repudiation of a valid contract.

We are aware of no authority in the text-books or in the adjudged cases to justify us in holding that the last charter-parties were executed under duress. There is present no element of duress, in the legal acceptation of that word. The hardships of particular cases should not induce the courts to disregard the long-settled rules of law.

Indeed, the rule appears to be universal that refusal to perform a contract (which is virtually which the defense amounts to) does not constitute duress.

Defendant here, as in all this array of cases, had his remedy by suing for breach of his alleged contract and for the recovery of advances made thereunder. True he says that he did not care to test his rights in the Russian Court and under Russian law (Plaintiff apparently being a Russian though that fact is not alleged); but we cannot recognise that as a legal excuse nor can we accept his explanation that he did not attach the money he had advanced for fear that plaintiff would remove the goods purchased under the contract. All of those were contingencies which defendant incurred when he entered into contractual relations with plaintiff and so long as the ordinary tribunals and the ordinary legal remedies were open to him he cannot be heard to claim that he acted under duress in ignoring them and approving as valid the account here sued upon. For it is the account rather than the contract out of which it grew which is here in question.

Thus far we have considered only defendant's version of the dispute between the parties. It is but fair to the plaintiff to state that in his reply he denies the averments of the answer and alleges that the original agreement between the parties justifies the notice of which plaintiff complains. But even under the latter's theory of the case we are unable to find that the approval of the account which he admits having executed was under circumstances which the law recognizes as constituting duress. We must therefore find for the plaintiff in accordance with the prayer of his complaint and it is accordingly considered and adjudged that plaintiff have and recover from defendant the items contained in said account, viz, Mexican $11,641.22 and Taels 91 with interest thereon from September 27, 1920, the date fixed for payment to other items costs.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician knowing of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria.

WM. J. MCCANN, M. D.,

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."

Bar Historian Who Was Anti-American

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 12. — Mr. Weeks, the Secretary of War, directed the Commandant of the West Point Military Academy to recall the invitation to the Hon. John William Fortescue, the British Military Historian, to address the Cadets on Armistice Day on the ground that anti-American sentiments were expressed in Mr. Fortescue's book "British Statesmen of the Great War." Mr. Fortescue in a statement has expressed regret for attacking the United States and explained that the remarks in question were made in the course of lectures at Oxford in 1910 and published later in the book mentioned and referred to the American War of Independence. His attitude to America had changed to admiration and respect since the Great War. Mr. Fortescue is returning to England without lecturing to the Cadets.

Peking, Nov. 12.—Chu Sih, one of the Anfuites who took refuge in the Japanese barracks here after the Chihli-Anhuei clash, generally referred to as the "Anfu War," in 1920, escaped from the barracks early yesterday morning.

It will be recalled that three other Anfuites, Tseng Yu-chin, Liang Hung-chi and Wang Kengyi, who were given asylum in the Japanese barracks, also made good their escapes last month, and the responsibility in the matter has become a subject of controversy between the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Japanese Minister.

TELLS SPINNERS MUST GET COTTON TRADE ON PAYING

Sir Charles Macara Says Sole Remedy Is Closer Cooperation

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 11.—A statement by Sir Charles Macara, read to a mass meeting of the members of the Federation of Master Cottonspinners' Association at Manchester today, said that, while the whole world was bare of cotton goods, they found it impossible to get trade on a paying basis.

There was disorganisation and confusion everywhere. Such business as was going through was at figures which were a long way short of paying expenses in a great majority of cases. Many had not paid dividends for over two years.

Both India and China had had excellent seasons and ought now to be placing orders freely. By allowing a large section of the trade to make to stock, they were playing into the hands of the merchants.

Sir Charles Macara urged that the remedy lay in more effective control of trade through the establishment of an advisory board including representatives of both manufacturers and operatives.

Armistice Day Fitly Observed By Allies

Two Minute Silence Observed In London; France Unveils Monument; America Honors Unknown Dead

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 11.—The fourth celebration of the anniversary of the Armistice took place today with great solemnity beneath gray skies. An impressive two minutes silence at 11 o'clock was universally observed. Everyone was wearing a Flanders Poppy which were sold on the streets on behalf of Field Marshal Earl Haig's appeal for ex-service men.

The principal center was the Cenotaph where, long before the hour, the whole of Whitehall was a mass of people, many of whom were carrying wreaths. The military with bands playing appropriate music arrived and took up position around the Cenotaph in Whitehall which was lined with troops and where a detachment of Guards faced sailors, Marines and members of the Air Force.

The King, clad in khaki, emerged from the Home Office at 10.45 and saluted. He then deposited a huge crimson wreath on the Cenotaph. The King was followed by the Prince of Wales limping with a stick, the Duke of York, Earl Curzon and other members of the Cabinet, and the Dominions Commissioners who reverently deposited wreaths on the Cenotaph. All stood bareheaded until Big Ben and maroons struck the hour when the assembly stood to attention for two minutes after which the massed bands played the Old Hundred in which the members of the Royal Family and the crowd joined.

A party of Marines played the final salute. Long lines of organised deputations then began to deposit wreaths.

The occasion was marked in various parts of the country by the unveiling of local war memorials. Other memorials were surrounded with floral tributes.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was observed in the United States with simple ceremonies. The President sent a message to the nation declaring that the day marked America's most impressive participation in the world's affairs, adding, "I think we have come to realise that we cannot hope to avoid obligations and responsibilities, often arduous and burdensome as a part of the price we must pay for our fortunate relationship to the confraternity of nations.

CEREMONIES IN PARIS

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 11.—The principal ceremony in connection with the observance of Armistice Day was the unveiling of a monument at Rothondes in the Forest of Compiegne on the spot where the Armistice was signed.

M. Millerand during the proceedings presented Lord Wester-Wemyss with the Medaille Militaire and recalled that as First Sea Lord he signed the armistice there. The President warmly saluted in the person of Lord Wemyss the Allied forces which hastened from all parts of the world during the war.

A dramatic recital of war events was delivered by M. Poincare in the course of which he specified by name every nation, including the British Dominions, which uprose against the acts of the Central Empires.

Marshal Foch and Earl Haig also made stirring speeches, the latter dwelling on the value of Anglo-French friendship. The assemblage loudly cheered him and Lord Wemyss.
